NIKOLA TESLA'S BIG SECRET; Arcturians Just Revealed Collapse of Reality

Dr David Clements, Emilio Ortiz

NIKOLA TESLA'S BIG SECRET? Arcturians JUST Revealed the COLLAPSE of Reality Dr David Clements Ortiz

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TwRcgmnEEaQ 90m Sep 30, 2025 Emilio Ortiz

Nikola Tesla's forgotten insights are resurfacing in ways that challenge everything we thought we knew about reality. In this powerful conversation, Oxford physicist Dr. David Clements reveals how Tesla's vision of plasma, living energy, and cosmic intelligence connects with urgent messages from higher civilizations such as the Arcturians. We explore why the collapse of old reality is already underway, what Tesla may have understood about the future of humanity, and how star beings are guiding us into a new paradigm of consciousness and technology. From the end of "dead physics" to the rise of living energetics, Dr. Clements explains how our emanation bends reality, why simulation theory keeps us trapped, and what it means for humanity's evolution as we approach a collective shift. This episode bridges science and spirituality with practical revelations on heart intelligence, cosmic plasma, and Tesla's role as a forerunner of the New Earth. If you've ever wondered what Tesla knew, what the Arcturians are just now revealing, and how it all connects to the future of humanity, this interview will take you to the edge of discovery Dr. David Clements is a theoretical physicist and consciousness researcher who bridges advanced science with spirituality and higher intelligence. Dr Clements studied at University of Oxford and Advanced Study in Mathematics and Theoretical Physics at University of Cambridge. Guided by beings like the Arcturians and Pleiadians, he moved beyond structural science to explore "living energetics"—the fluid, heart-centered reality that underlies our physical world. He explains how our perception shapes reality, how to dissolve energetic blocks, and how to access the "Infinite Source Gateway" within our own sacred heart center for accelerated spiritual development and self-empowerment.

PODCAST CHAPTERS

00:00 - Dr David Clements Intro
3:13 – What Excites Dr. Clements About Humanity's Future
5:39 – How Our Emanations Bend Reality
7:30 – Clearing Old Energetics & Awakening the Heart
11:22 – Rediscovering Wonder & the Infinite Cosmos
13:15 – From Physics & Academia to Higher Realms of Energy
15:33 – First Encounters with Living Energetics & Invention
17:28 – Why Mathematics Fails to Describe Living Energy
19:29 – Lessons from the Arcturians on Heart-Centered Perception
21:18 – Remote Perception & Seeing Reality Through the Heart
22:43 – What Nikola Tesla Was Really Onto
24:55 – Tesla vs. Einstein: Energy in Matter or Space?
28:01 – Living Energetic Devices & Emotional Clearing
30:23 – Living Energetics vs. Artificial Intelligence
34:01 – Plasma Technology & Multi-Dimensional Ships
38:59 – Living with One Foot in 3D and One Foot in the Quantum
41:53 – Luminescent Bodies & The Future of Human Evolution
45:29 – Disease, Healing & The Role of Source Light in the Body
49:03 – The Fortress Around the Human Heart
54:54 – Releasing Old Energies & Becoming Response-Able 58:04 – Morning Practices & Holding Source Energy All Day
1:01:20 – How Advanced Races Use the Mind in Harmony with the Heart
1:04:02 – Moving Beyond Duality & Returning to Source
1:08:51 – How to Discern the Energy of Beings
1:11:11 – What Determines the Speed of Consciousness Expansion
1:15:23 – Is Reality a Simulation?
1:24:09 – A Transmission from the Arcturians
1:36:21 – Future Discoveries & Time Capsule Message

Dr. David Clements Intro

Davy: Humanity has what they refer to as the fortress. Now, the fortress is a combination of many lifetimes of traumas, false belief systems, misappropriated energetics that we've created out of reaction or fear or something like that. All of it is added to this sponge that's just soaked up repeated experiences of all these low energetics that forms this sort of barrier or cocoon around us.
Emilio: What was he really onto that mainstream science wasn't ready for, but now we are in that sense.

Davy: In my view, Nikola Tesla, it's been said many times, that he was way beyond his time and I believe what he was tapping into, what he was getting towards was an understanding of the living nature of energetics. When you really look at it. I mean, when you look at lightning, for example, mainstream physics will tell you it's about electrical potential. If you get a high potential, a low potential the difference across it just jumps at the shortest path.

One of the things that I'm sure will probably come up in discussion as well is that when I speak with people and when I listen to them, it's not actually the words that I'm listening to. It's the energy. And this is one of the things that I tell people is they say, well, how do you know who you're talking to? How do you know, for example, like the teams and so on and so forth? And I say it's their energy. You cannot fool someone with your energy, you cannot. Your energy is your energy broadcast. You can't hide it. You can't mess with it. It is exactly what it is.

You can mess with your words and you can mess with what you say and you can come across as a very articulate, say the right things, very smooth talker, but you cannot fool somebody with your energy. And for me, that's what I listen to. And when people have open heart centers and they talk from that place, you feel a richness.

And that's why I believe it's very true that when you got the information about being a disseminator of living intelligent information, this is very much what my teams have and I've experienced through the work that I do with them, with my high self, is that you are speaking energy packets. You're speaking living energetics that go out to people, that's the important part. And when you speak with somebody who has a closed heart center, who's very mind orientated, you can feel that the waves of energetics that come towards you are largely empty.

It's lacking and that's not a form, that's not in judgment is to say that because they're just constructing and articulating sounds to have meaning, but it's missing the energetics within the sound waves that are actually coming to you from that person. Yes. So that's a very important concept, definitely.

What Excites Dr. Clements About Humanity's Future

Emilio: I had a friend of mine, a mentor of mine once say that the words are just the mask for what's actually underneath. Yes. So I love that you brought that point up. And with that said, Dr. David Clemens, welcome on Just Tap In, brother. I wanted to start off asking, what are you most excited about right now, globally and in your life?

Davy: That's a very good question. I've never been asked that before. I would say that what I'm really excited about, the glimpses that I have through the work that I do, connecting with the Infinite Source Intelligence, the heart center, high self and working with the teams, the very high energy teams that I work with.

There is always such a profound joy and excitement, like there's something so spectacular, always coming and there's that is right now.

And it's always like there the feeling is it's being on the edge of your seat, waiting for this amazing finale, but it's not just going to be a finale and that's it. It's going to be an opening to something that is going to be so spectacular. And everything that comes after that is going to be ever more spectacular.

And what do I mean by that? What I mean is that I believe we're going to we're gaining access. We're starting to open up deeper levels of connectivity. Bridging, if you will, to the Infinite Source Intelligence, we each have a direct bridge or sort of calling line, if you want to call it that, to the Infinite Source Intelligence. That's the profundity of the heart center that we have.

And this is opening up. And as it does, the feelings of bliss and joy and just unending wonder and adventure are just there all the time and it gets stronger and stronger and stronger. And most people live their lives these days. And I have done myself, I know what it's like when you're living, striving or just having to tackle things and deal with bits and pieces of living in the world. It almost seems like that takes over the real truth that is waiting to emerge.

How Our Emanations Bend Reality

And I know that a lot of people say, oh, that's but that's kind of airy, fairy and the real world is this. Well, the truth is, from what my teams have told me, and I've experienced this myself is that the world bends itself to our emanation. Now, the collective emanation of energy that we have been giving off for a very long time is one of fragility, stagnancy, same old, same old and repeating patterns. OK, so that's the world that we see fed back to us. That's literally the flowing field, if you like, of that's all around us responding to our emanations. Now, as we change, as we go back inside and we feel and connect with the heart center, the heart bridge, suddenly, the heart intelligence are just an unspeakably profound energy. But it also goes beyond energy.

And we can cover that a little bit more in more detail, if you wish, but it starts to emanate something more deeply profound now, instead of just emanating these old pattern energies of requesting the same old, same old stagnation, yada, yada, yada, that sort of stuff. What we're now giving off is an energy which is brand new. It wants to bring everything that is brand new, that is pure joy and pure bliss. And now as that emanation gets stronger and stronger, your world starts to transform around you. It is effortless because this energy does it on your behalf, this emanation that we give off does it on your behalf? And the intelligence of the heart center is, I mean, people use the words infinite and unending and so on. But I truly believe there are no words because words themselves are structures. And structures cannot describe that which has no structure to it.

So it's an experiential thing that everyone simply has to just take the choice to experience for themselves and feel those. I feel it now. I see the sensation. I feel the sensation within me of that unending Source Intelligence, which is pure joy, which is pure bliss. It's pure compassion. It's all the good things that people seek. It's pure benevolence and it organizes all material objects, all matter or matter energetics in the most profoundly harmonious way to match what it is that you'd love to experience truly in the in the image of joy and bliss and peace and all those other things as well. It knows exactly how to organize all of that for you because it knows you as a living being. It knows you as the sacred heart that you have, the soul that you have, the highest self that you are. It knows you in that entirety. And as it lenses through you, it sees the full entirety of you and it knows exactly what to bring you that is going to bring you the greatest joy that you are looking for. You don't need to go out there and go hard at it and plan and do all the other things that humans love to be doing. And you know, I've had so many examples of this in my own life. And I know it can be difficult sometimes because the flip side of this is that we also have to deal with the outpouring of the old energetics that act like filters.

Clearing Old Energetics & Awakening the Heart

So when we have this pure emanation and it goes through all these filtered belief systems, old energies, harsh emotions, traumatic experiences, all of that sort of stuff. All of that has to come out. And that's what we're also going through as well. And that adds to your question about what you most excited about because that's another exciting stage is because by clearing this out, by getting rid of this and going through these processes where for a little time, you might feel a bit rotten I feel pretty awful. But it really is this high energy clearing out the dross that says if you get rid of that, if you let that go, your emanation can come through in a much more pure way and a much more unfettered way, unfiltered way. And just watch what happens in your life as you get that out of the way and a better emanation replaces it.

So that is happening every day for everyone. And part of the difficulty that I think most people are facing is the resistance that we have to actually letting that process unfold because some of it can be very deep. It can be very traumatic is one word, but also just the sensations of the emotions can be extremely deep and very overwhelming. And that's the problem where people kick in and they start resisting and they don't realize, just sit back, just relax, take a breath, breathe through it, let it go, let it go, and it will pass. And then once it's passed, it doesn't come back. It does get replaced with the more true emanation of you. And it just goes step-by-step by step like that.

So I don't know if that sounds like your question in a very roundabout way, but I would say just to finish off on that, that's what really excites me, the return, the restoration of the human being as a sacred being of the pure intelligence of love. Now a lot of people might say, oh, that sounds a little bit airy, fairy to say that, but it's not. Love is literally the living intelligence of the creator. That's the way I see it.
And love is a word, but what it points to is the presence or the essence in my view of the infinite Source Intelligence, which is unending benevolence. It is unending joy, unending adventure and unending wonder because that's a big thing that humanity seems to have lost its way on a little bit. And I know that too, because I went through a period, the wonder of life itself, the wonder of existence. How is it that all this came to be? And this, the pure unendingness of creation and creativity, it's just a pure wonder in of itself, just that simple question in of itself. I know it's just going to say that when you look up at the stars and just gaze and wonder, the pure beauty of the creative space that is.
And its unending, it's going to keep expanding. New things are going to be created. The universes are going to get created. It's just an unending. It will never end. The joy just gets better and better and better all the time. And so does the wonder. That to me is a very beautiful thing because that is a core thing that we all have and it will only get stronger as we let it out and let it expand.

Rediscovering Wonder & the Infinite Cosmos

Emilio: [clip starts] Our world is shifting faster than ever and it's so easy to feel small in the middle of all of this. Imagine being part of a movement, a tribe that is not just talking about the change, but actually living it. That's why I created the Deep Dive, a living spiritual ecosystem where every single day we go on a journey to remembering our most authentic self. Our members have joined from all walks of their awakening and it's been such a blessing to witness all of the soul relationships that are already forming.

As a community, we start every day with simple, powerful activities and we're beginning to start envisioning the kind of world that we want to experience. This is way more than exclusive content or just another spiritual Netflix. This is about integration and leaving behind a legacy. If you're ready to move beyond knowing into becoming, then visit the link in the description or scan the QR code on screen right now to learn more. I'd be honored to go create history with you.
[clip ends]
Beautiful. And as a society, I've seen that we've been so attached to our systems and understandings of mathematics, physics, all the sciences combined. And that's what's created our current reality. You going to these top universities in Cambridge, Oxford and getting PhDs in these studies of the universe and of reality. Where do you feel currently those models or frameworks fall short and how all of these other insights started coming through for you that go beyond what maybe our current understanding of mathematics, physics, all of these other sciences hold for us.

Rediscovering Wonder & the Infinite Cosmos

Davy: Yes, that's a very deep question. So in the beginning, I mean, I have to say, it's a funny take. I had when I started my sort of career in mathematics and physics, I had no idea about there is even a higher self or any of that. To me, it was all woo-woo fluff. It was just I was absolutely heading into an academic intellectual career path. And it probably wasn't until maybe in the first year of doing my PhD, which was in superstring theory. I just I started off and I really wanted to peel back the layers of how does this universe work? What are the inner secrets? How does it operate? And through my first year, I started to get the feeling that something wasn't quite right, that this wasn't going in the direction that I was expecting it to go in. I wasn't peeling back the layers as I was hoping to do. It was like a kid in a candy store or waiting to have my Christmas present or something. It just felt very flat.

From Physics & Academia to Higher Realms of Energy

And then at that time, I went back to my dorm and I started looking online and started keying and certain keywords and to do with energy, energy generation, that kind of thing and came across Tom Bearden's work. And I'm sure you may have heard of Tom. I'm sure many of your listeners will have heard of him. He got back in touch with me, which I was really blown away by and we stuck up a really beautiful friendship.
And then later on down the line, he introduced me to John Bedini, who's another Maverick in my view, legendary inventor, really, really amazing people, both of them. And then I got invited to take part in a documentary and got to meet John for the first time, which would be the beginning of working with John over a period of time.

First Encounters with Living Energetics & Invention

Now, as I went into one of his rooms with these devices running, it was my first tangible experience of quite a profound emanation of what I now call living energetics or living energies. And when I went into the room, there was no door. It was an open space.
So it's not like the energy was being contained by walls and doors. So as you walk through the threshold, the energy went like really high. You could viscerally feel the heightened vibration in the environment in that room. It was incredibly tangible. You couldn't miss it. If you have even a slightest energy sensitivity, I'm sure you would not miss this.
And then when I came back out, that's not like the density came back in and it felt really kind of kind of yuck again. And that was really the first point for me to really understand and experience living energetics. And I was still at that point, I'd done my PhD and I was now sort of working in a university in Scotland doing a research post with advanced electromagnetism.
And so part of this was to do with the collaboration along those lines as well. But during that post, I began to realize, and I was already very much in touch with my high self, with my teams who are Arcturian and Pleiadian that these things have to take a very different direction.

Why Mathematics Fails to Describe Living Energy

What I'm doing now I'd sit at my desk and my job was to mathematically model or understand what we were looking at in terms of John's and Tom's devices and machinery. And I just felt there's nothing here in this language, this mathematical language that is going to describe what's going on here. Something completely different needs to be here. And because the trouble is that mathematics itself is a structural linear language. It's very good at describing mechanistic or linear or an unfluid like sort of objects or behaviors.

But the second you come to a living intelligent field, it can't talk about that because it's not the fact, it's not the principle of which it is. It's a principle of highly densified structure that doesn't change fundamentally, but can be mathematically mapped in a very, very particular mechanical way so that you can derive all sorts of information from that. But living energy systems don't behave like that. They respond to you. They change with you. They interact with you. They're not static and linear in the same way that we used to say a solid wall or if you throw a brick up in the air, it's going to fall down.

You can very accurately chart positions, times, velocities, all that stuff very well with the mathematics, the language that we have. But when it comes to describing living energetic fields, that's a completely different ball game and a very new, almost a quantum language is needed to describe it, which we don't have yet.

Lessons from the Arcturians on Heart-Centered Perception

So at that point, I began to realize, okay, so, and my teams would come in and the Arcturian specifically who to many of your listeners who may not be familiar with them. This is a race of beings who are exceptionally advanced, mentally, spiritually, emotionally. Let's just say, for want of a better phrase, they're living organic technology, but I don't like the word technology. Let's call it innovations are profound and a sort of awe inspired around this galaxy.

That's how adept they are. And one time they were showing me how to build a sort of type of toroidal coil system. And I was getting a little frustrated because I was still in a little bit in that mode of mind crunching and trying to articulate or intellectually understand the structure of what was happening with the system. And it wasn't working. And they came in and said, what you need to understand is that looking at this from a heart-centered or heart intelligence perspective is going to be so different from looking at it from a mind perspective.

Remote Perception & Seeing Reality Through the Heart

And they were saying, when you learn to live from your heart center, it is a world of difference in their exact words to me. It took to me from living in a mind centered way. And that really, really kick started me to understand you really have to learn to come down into the heart center and start to live and perceive from the heart intelligence. And the mind has a beautiful function. It is a beautiful instrument. So it's not like you neglect the mind is it? All right, done with that. It's like it's time. It has a beautiful function, but the trouble is what has happened is, as humanity, we have been taught to be so dependent, so centered in the mind to see everything, to hear everything, to interpret everything through the mind and to almost forget the heart center.
And as a as somebody who's been very well trained in academia and thinking abstractly and analytically at very high levels, I can say that making that transformation from being very head centric to being heart centric, it was a tricky one in ways because you have to learn to undo all the old mental, very rigid mental perceptions that you have had to learn to become more fluid in the heart perception, where the rigidity really falls away and suddenly you see things that you could never see before. You have perception of things that you could never perceive before.

And I can tell everyone firsthand exactly that is what happened to me. And then suddenly you get to perceive things like the inside of an atom or the inside of fundamentals of energetics where you realize, oh my goodness, that's a lot different from the pictures that we've been shown. And I've been trained to see all my life about how atoms operate. It's very different.
So there's no limit to the scalability of perception that you can have when you get into the heart center. There's no limit to the type of experience or information you want to experience if you want to say, okay, I'd like to understand the energetics of this system. As a heart perceiver, what you can do is you can literally have a quantum snapshot of the entire energetics of what you just asked for.
And you can literally move around it a little bit like a remote viewer does, but I tend to think of this as a remote perception. It's a little different because the protocols that are in play with remote viewing, which I did that in the beginning as well are not in play here. This is a very, very different way of going about perception in that way. So, yes, there's a whole load there. I'm sure you want to maybe have a question on this. I'll let you speak.

What Nikola Tesla Was Really Onto

Emilio: For sure. I mean, you mentioned one of the legendary inventors that you came across in your early days. One that I wanted to bring up to the surface is Nikola Tesla. And I'm really curious to know from your perception of things, what was he really onto that mainstream science wasn't ready for. But now we are in that sense.
Davy: That's a very, very good question. Thank you for asking that. So in my view, Nikola Tesla I mean, it's been said many times that he was way beyond his time and he was. He was one of, if not the greatest inventor on this planet in my view. And I believe what he was doing, because still to this day, a lot of his work is still under a sort of a hush kind of stab if you know what I mean by that.
And I believe what he was tapping into what he was getting towards is understanding the living nature of energetics when you really look at it. I mean, when you look at lightning, for example mainstream physics will tell you, okay, electrical potential 101 you get a high potential, low potential, the difference across, it just jumps the shortest path. Well, some of the experiments that Nikola Tesla was doing with the energy that he was working with, it didn't do that. It took the most difficult path.

So there's a revealing of very new energy behaviors. And when you look at lightning as well, the way it behaves, if you look at Tesla coils, the way these plasma arcs come off. The way they reach off like fractals trying to search for new development as they come off. The fundamental living energetics of plasmas and living energetics like that is so different from the philosophy, the structuredness, the almost dead mechanics of the way science has taught at the moment.
And I believe that's one of the many ways in which Nikola Tesla was ahead of his time because he really, as far as I know, was the first person I know we've had many previously civilizations that were very advanced. So they probably did this as well.
So he may not have been the first, but historically in recent times, he really was the maverick inventor that really stepped into that arena. So the way I see it is that he began to really study and understand the living intelligent nature of energies as he was working with very, very high power systems, very high power AC systems, generating high voltage. He started to see things in energies that other people didn't because at the time people were still very much adhering to the structural nature of electricity and magnetism as Maxwell had set it out.

Tesla vs. Einstein: Energy in Matter or Space?

And for those who don't know, Maxwell was the first person to come up with what famously now known as the Maxwell equations, which are what is used throughout physics for electromagnetism. It's, to this day, still used. But I believe that one of the things that Tesla was, and I thought was quite funny when I read it, is that a reporter asked Einstein once said, so what is it like to be the cleverest guy on the planet.

And he said to the reporter, I'm not sure. I think you should ask Mr. Tesla that question, because both of them had a dialogue Nikola Tesla would write to Einstein and he would write back and so forth. And when Einstein came up with his famous equation of $E = MC^2$, which essentially says that there is an energy quantity contained in matter for a particle of mass M. What Nikola Tesla was saying is that actually no, the energy isn't contained in the matter itself it's in the space around it and this is one of the things that he mentioned, I believe in writing to Einstein. And I'm just trying to paint an overall picture here where I believe Nikola Tesla was going.
So I believe in his later work he was really getting to understand the living conscious nature of energetics. So I mean this is nothing that I can prove. This is my own personal take on looking at his work and how he unfolded. And so I believe he was ahead of his time in that way because it seems to me and from the information that my teams have given me that one of the reasons why Nikola Tesla's work had to step back.

Living Energetic Devices & Emotional Clearing

And so as his work had to take a little bit of a back step is because the world that level of energetic introduced too quickly would have been a very profound jump from a highly, highly structured and entrenched global consciousness that was very much entrenched in an almost Dark Ages mentality. And so I think that's the way that we're going to be doing this. It's like old stuff which has come to the surface because it can't survive in that environment. It just gets cleared out.

Emilio: What do you mean by old stuff. Was it physical?
Davy: Well, it's old traumatic emotions, old stuff you didn't even realize you had, childhood things, past life aspects as well. It just jumps to the surface and it would just lift out. It's almost like the vibration was too high. It would just shake up or remove out in just a tangible way of speaking about it. All the inner stuff that just needed to go that was so dense and so low in energy that was just stuck up in the human system. It would just start to rise out and release and go.

So if you can imagine a world with all these systems running how it there really wouldn't be any space for low energetics or low energies because it's too high. They can't exist. And I think that's a profound importance moving forward because us as human beings, the more we open our heart center, the more we emanate very highly intelligent living energetics is the emanation of give off. Suddenly the space raises, densified low energetics can't exist anymore. They start to either break down, dissolve away or move away.

And that's what's happening as we move up and up and up, as we get more influx of high energies from the Sun, other sources and even from the center of the Earth itself. This is all bringing about this massive high energy transformation where we're moving into a new environment where the nature of energy and what I call physics is just another word for the behavior of energy. Physics as it is today is concerned with highly compressed structural behavioral patterns of energy. But what I'm interested in is the living more fluid, high dimensional, might more sort of freely intelligent, energetic systems, not the highly compressed ones that behave more mechanically.
So that's what we're moving into and the innovations and technologies that are going to be coming that Nicola Tesla, I believe, was the bedrock for kicking off are these living intelligent systems that do interact with you? They don't just switch on and just function and turn off when you switch them off. When you turn them on, the fields interact with you. You can literally interact with them in a living, intelligent way. It's a very different way of living from what we used to with the technologies we have now. It's vastly different.

Living Energetics vs. Artificial Intelligence

Emilio: What is the difference there with the living, energetic systems that you say are coming in the coming years with the current, let's say, advancements of artificial intelligence that we've seen like the large language models that we're now using almost like every hour of the day.

Davy: What I would say is that there are a few people have asked me that question. The way I see it is that I jokingly call it at the Absence of Intelligence. Because it is it's not a creative intelligence. It can't create anything, it amalgamates, it permutates. It basically takes things and juggles them around and gives you an output, essentially. That could be very useful, but it's not in my view true intelligence of a creative nature, which is the Source Intelligence. So it's very different. So as a creator being, we have the ability to create brand new concepts and a lot of people, I remember learning from my teams a while ago, they were saying, well, when people are mind centered, they believe that they're coming up with a new idea or I've come up with this or this or this or this or this.

What's actually happening is the mind cycles through your past, your history, your experience, what you take it in, informationally commutes it and sort of does a sort of a combination with it and gives a new presentation of that combined information.

And that in a way is what I call Absence of Intelligence. I say that sort of lovingly, jokingly does so it literally is a permutation system, but it's not a creator system. And so this is one of the amazing things that's coming forward when you ask the question is that we are going to go through massive leaps and bounds because new living ideas that have never been here before and are truly brand new, not just amalgamations or permutations or combinations of things that have already been here.

These are going to be brand new forward moving paradigm shifting ideas and it comes from here [puts his hand on his heart]. The heart intelligence is the creator center. That is where you can create truly new things from, rather than just go through permutations and combinations and so on.

So I would say that one of the delights that I'm looking forward to and it's coming now and it's a lot of it's just coming up and percolating through the scenes right now is that a whole vistas of things that people have never conceived of before are going to come through. And lots of people around the world, I think, are going to come up with some immaculate, amazing new innovations and ideas and ways forward that have never been present and it's going to replace an old paradigm that is just essentially when you look at it in its nuts and bolts core is really just a regurgitation, a reamalgamation, a repermutation, even though it's in a more complicated form, the philosophical nature of what it is, and it's going to be a little bit more important.

It's still really the same. It just becomes just more of the same added together so it looks more complex. It can do more permutations, more amalgamations, more combinations to fit and to make it look like something new is coming out, but really it's just ever more giant permutations. It's not intrinsically new. That's the difference as I see it anyway.

Plasma Technology & Multi-Dimensional Ships

Emilio: I've spoken to a few channelers and psychics that are tuning into, let's say, future timelines for humanity. And one thing that's been repeatedly coming through in those sessions is the use of plasma technology in a future timeline, maybe even closer than we think. Yes. What is your perception of plasma and why that would replace a lot of, let's say, dead or low energetic systems that we currently have?
Davy: That's a very good question. I'm really happy to answer that one. So let's take it this way. Let's take a computer program, something in a silicon circuit, has predefined parameters of what it can and can't do, but the programmer comes along and just programs a functionality and just hits go. Okay. So it does this function. It does this output and you can do it repeatedly all day long and it doesn't change. It does the same thing.
But it relies upon a physical component structure, electronics components to be there to shunt, channel, gate electrons in a certain way in order to produce that function or that output. Now, let's have a look now at something multi-dimensional, something more plasma, something a little bit more that doesn't have that confining structure to it.

One of the things that is inherent in high dimensional fields are what I refer to as an intent codes, intent coded energetics. And so, for example, people who go into an old house who placed their hand on a rail can actually feel weird stuff from whoever was here before. They can actually sense and perceive the living emanations of the energetic code still in the fields of the material structure of the house and the fields emanating from that structure, electric in nature and magnetic in nature as well.

But those codes are there and those who are sensitive can perceive those experiential and intent coded structures that still exist within those fields. Now, as we move towards plasmas where the streams of energy are fluid, they're not confined. They're not like structures like a silicon circuit or something equivalent to that. These can move fluidly and they can respond to the energetic intent codes within them like a moving plasma that can simply unfold with the intent that it has been given or that it has to move or change or do something and that can change fluidly.

And so, for example, when I've had these experiences of when I do my remote perception and how bi-location experiences with my teams, the ships themselves have a living consciousness and you interact with them. The ship field itself is a living consciousness. The material, what I perceive as the material form and the higher dimensionally you go, the more fluid and liquid it is. It's no longer a structured ship. It's now a light vessel. It's almost like a very powerful high vibrational sphere of energetics. I would say that it's above plasma where the consciousness of the occupants are inside that sphere.

And a lot of people have seen spherical orbs, other things around the Earth that that appear from time to time. It may be some emanation of that, but from what I've experienced, those things are very real. They're very advanced. And that ship can be moved wherever the occupants consciously wish it to go at any given time. The physics or the energy behavior of that level of energetic is massively unimaginably different from the highly condensed linear sort of almost dead mechanical structures that we work with all the time.

Emilio: It's no airplane.
Davy: No, no, no,. It isn't. And it can change shape. It can morph. It can expand, scale, contract. It literally that all the limitations of the compression of energy which we call solid matter are off. Suddenly, now the energetics are very different. It's living. It's fluid. It can move in different ways. It behaves in different ways. And it plays in different ways. The energy is so joyful and expansive. It's hard to articulate that into words because you just have to experience it to know it. But yes, as you move higher and higher in those realms into the plasmic and then beyond because plasma has one foot in the structural camp and one foot in the sort of multi-dimensional camp as well. So I believe that's a really profound step over that we're going into. But as we evolve more and more, it will start to move beyond the plasmic side of things into a much more high dimensional energetic physics as well. So yes, I don't know if there's anything in there you want to focus on or open a window on it.

Living with One Foot in 3D and One Foot in the Quantum

Emilio: I mean, for those that know me and have followed this channel, I'm also a big student of Dr. Jodi Serota Spencer's work and he talks about having one foot in the 3D world and one foot in the quantum world. You feel like as a collective and as a species, we're going to start moving into having one foot in this 3D dense world and also the multi-dimensional world. And how would a society like that behave? I mean, you've interacted with these races, the Arcturians, the Pleiadians, the Elohim. How do they operate in reality?
Davy: Yes, that's a good question as well. It's a lovely answer it this way. One of the very intriguing things I think is happening and it's very much on the key of what you just said about half one foot and one foot on that side is that I believe that humanity is the human experience, the human experiment, whatever you wish to call it, is jumping into a realm where we're going to get access to high-dimensional energetic principles, high-dimensional conscious energetics, call that quantum, give it whatever word you wish, but it's more fluid living conscious energetics while still being and having a physical form and what's been communicated to me by these races is that human matter, the matter that makes up the human body, is going to undergo a change and so is matter on the planet in a step-by-step way.

And instead of being highly compressed forms that just behave in this highly sort of more or less the way that mainstream physics say that they behave, things are going to start to change new qualities, new characteristics, new behaviors of energy are going to come about. Now, I feel from my perspective and what my teams have told me is that humanity is going to go into this profound transition where we will have access to a very high-dimensional, energetic principles, but while still having a physical body, but that physical body will be heightened in its energetic function as well.
So we'll still have human bodies, but we'll be able to do profound things that have never actually been done in a physical body before because this is part of the experiment about marrying or merging high-dimensional principles of very fluid expansive living energetics with highly condensed structured energetics and what sort of experience, beautiful brand new experience, can a being and a human vessel have when you have both access to high-dimensional energetics, yet have a very high-dimensional and have a physical elevated body at the same time. I believe that's where we're heading and that's what we're going through right now. So I hope that answers your question on that part. Is that what you were meaning?

Luminescent Bodies & The Future of Human Evolution

Emilio: Yes, I think the other word that you've used before is luminescent. Right. Why did you use it that word to describe the new iteration of the species?
Davy: Yes, well, it's when you look back in history the many masters that are written about in different texts all over the world. What are the common connections is that with these beings, they're tended to be luminescence or a sort of a glow, but nobody could really put their finger on what the glow was. Now, this is, again, my perspective and the way the teams have related to me, as matter energetics change and then suddenly you become a greater and greater opening conduit to higher Source Intelligence that comes within your heart. Matter literally begins to luminesce. It changes its state.

And so it's a little bit like the closest I can link it to is like when a glow bug turns on and their butt starts glowing. That kind of thing. But essentially what it is that when that level of living intelligence goes through matter and matter changes, suddenly it starts to emanate. It starts to emanate those living light codes. It starts to emanate light in a very different way because the nature of photons or the packets or the quanta of light fields as is known in mainstream physics today. That's another thing which my team have told me that photons are not just these little point objects which are quanta or energy packets or light field. They are living libraries. Whenever they interact with you, for example, when you go outside in the Sun, and the sunlight hits you, that is, the photons shower you. They interact with you and they leave. They impart coded living information to you.
And when they leave, they get a copy or a copy of your book, the living library of your life and they take it with them. And that gets bounced around and shared. That's the living light web, if you like, of interactivity. And what you receive and what you transmit depends on your level of energetics, it's almost an access card. If you've got access to certain bandwidths of dimensional resonance, then you'll be able to download within that and transmit within that and so on. And so light itself the living nature of photons themselves, the nature of light, the way we see it, I believe is going to change as well.
So there's a whole load of things which in my view are going to be changing and it's going to be a profound shift in environmental changes. Human package changes, let's put it that way, the human body, how it behaves, how it does everything. But when we open to that core within us, the Source energetic that comes through starts to literally emanate within all of your cells. It bridges into your cells. It expands throughout your cells. Suddenly your entire being becomes a very powerful and prominent living energetic system.
It does have intelligence now. Many people have spoken about this before, but the level of upping in its living intelligence is really going to change and it's all because of the infusion of the Source Love light energetic that comes out from the center of the heart. That's just slowly building and we're getting an acclimation process to that and our bodies are acclimating too. So this is the unfolding as I see it. So I hope that gives you a little bit more about your question.

Disease, Healing & the Role of Source Light in the Body

Emilio: Yes, a word that just came up for me is disease or illness. And as you're describing this new energetic living system of our bodies, is there still room for the current system. And the chronic illnesses that we have in society.

Davy: One of the things that I've experienced with going up with my teams is that when I look at them, they are immaculate. And I know that's a very odd word to use because it's used in all sorts of genres and contexts. But what I would say is that they have a physicality, but it's not a physicality like we know it. The beings that I've worked with that have what I perceive as being a body. It glows. It has this effervescence.

It doesn't function the same way that we do. The living intelligent light within their bodies organizes everything and optimizes everything for perfect flow and function because that's the nature of the living intelligence within them. That's the nature of the Source within us. Now, the trouble is with humanity because we've experienced such a diminishing as part of this experience or experiment of what would it be like to experience separation or the transparency of no Source, no connection to Source. That's not actually possible, but you can diminish it like to a point where you think you've got no connection and there's nothing there. Now, what happens is it's like a photocopier.

So if you put a photocopy, a beautiful page of text into a photocopier and you press go and you take that page out and you get take that page again and you're going to put that into the photocopier and you're going to take a copy of that. You take that output that and you keep repeating that cycle. It degrades and degrades and degrades because there is no intelligence correcting the errors as it gets copied. Okay.

And in a very similar way, what my teams have said is that because of the lack of Source Intelligence within the human body cells now have to refer to a previous generation of cells in order to get their instructions of division and how they divide. There's so many divisions they can do before they stop. But when I look at these beings, these high dimensional beings, they, the living light inside them literally immaculately performs all biological processes they need without error without problems.
I believe as humanity really starts to open up its heart center and really allows the infusion of that Source Intelligence through, lets the infusion into the cells, let's the infusion into even the subatomic particles and particles, the atoms, the molecules, the chains, the DNA, everything that comprises and makes up eventually the cellular system or the structure you call your human body.
And if everything is going to change and it's going to be an amazing future. It really is.
And this is why I say to people it's one of the beautiful things about it. It's already all inside you. You have no dependence on anything outside you. You don't require anything outside of you to do it. You just need the practice, the opening, the connection inside, the willingness to really open up and allow the infusion of your higher self, your Source self to come in and work with you and start to bridge that infusion in. So that that's the way I would choose to describe it.

The Fortress around the Human Heart

Emilio: What holds us back from fully opening the perception of our heart?
Davy: That's a good one, you have some really good questions. I think it is multifaceted. One of the things that my teams and the infinite Source Intelligence that I work with have said is that humanity has what they refer to as the fortress. Now the fortress is a combination of many lifetimes of traumas, false belief systems, misappropriated energetics where we've created out of reaction or fear or something like that. All of it is added to this sponge that's just soaked up repeated experiences of all these low energetics that forms this sort of barrier or cocoon around us.

Now one of the other things is to do with because of that sort of walking down that path that humanity has taken and the ever diminishing access to Source Intelligence, the intelligence of compassion starts to fall down. The intelligence of joy and wonder and delight and the wish for others to experience that too starts to fall down. Suddenly you now start to move in a very self-centric survivalistic everyone's out for themselves as through the Dark Ages is going on and we're coming out of that now. But that was very prevalent. That was a very big part of societies around the world for a long time.
And so there's a lot of harshness that had been created during those times. And these are all patterns, all fragments from way, way past. And what it does, it taught people that oh my goodness, if you open your heart, my goodness, you're somehow welcoming somebody to hurt you. And it's no, nothing could be more opposite than that. What you're doing is you're beginning a transformation to dissolve all of those energetics that ping up when somebody misbehaves to you. It makes you feel that you're being hurt when in fact in some of the texts, a lot of people speak about the masters that they did, they had no reaction. They were just this pure delight of joy.
And so in the first time, there’s just a little bit of a smile.
Even if you were shouting the most awful things at them, they couldn't be triggered because they have nothing inside them to be triggered. They don't have the layers of the trauma and the dross suddenly rushes to the surface when somebody says a key word or this or that so that they can simply stay in their center. And then you can practice the art of learning how you react to people with your feelings, your thoughts and notice if somebody says something to you.
And you go, ‘I don't like that.’ What is it you're feeling right now? Just hold that for a second. Hold that feeling. Feel that energy because as you feel it, you're now gaining access to it because it was lying there dormant, deep in your cellular structure, deepen your whole makeup, just lying there, giving off these emanations and creating, helping to create your relationship. Helping to create your reality with problems. Now, suddenly, somebody comes along and says, Whoa, OK, I had that reaction. Where's that color? Let me just feel that for a second. OK.

And as you feel it, because the biggest problem is that people have pushed this stuff into the unconscious and the unconscious is like the garbage dumping ground of everything we don't want to face, fear to face, or just want to push away. And so that sits down there, but it's still broadcasting. It's still emanating. And so people wonder, why do I keep getting that person or people like that person in my life? Or this experience keep happening again and again. Well, it's because you're requesting it again and again because the stuff we have in our unconscious is still broadcasting.
*53m
You are still requesting energetically a repeat of that experience because that's what the fields respond to your emanation. That's a very, very big key point. That's something I had to learn. I guess that I think I was thrown in the deep end in my earlier days because you keep banging your head against the wall and eventually said, do you understand now? Every experience you have shows you something about your own energy nature, what you are requesting, what type of experience you are requesting, the people you are requesting.
So when you learn the art form of, okay, instead of just going off and reacting and blasting back, I can say, okay you're okay. So this is coming up now and this is clearly somehow, I don't know how, but I've requested this to happen.
And so the energies that are coming up are really the thing that I need to look at. When you breathe into that energy and let it sit, it shakes loose. And now as you breathe out, you can exhaust it and get rid of it and literally pump it out and use the breath as a, pull it up, get rid of it, blow it out. And as you keep pumping and blowing, eventually you exhaust the traces of those energies that were broadcasting that got triggered and now suddenly they're gone.
You have that experience again, you don't have that reaction anymore because you've just gotten rid of those explosive energies that were hiding down in your unconscious or subconscious.

How Advanced Races Use the Mind in Harmony with the Heart

And now you can respond in a different way. And that's one of the big things that I've had to learn many, many times that my teams, the Arcturians, my high self, the Pleiadians, have very gently and very peacefully tried to remind me many times, and they had to teach me many times. I didn't get it. I didn't get it first off.
So anybody's thinking this is hard. It's an art form. It's because you're unlearning old humanity habits of reaction. And instead you're going to consider energy awareness. It's very different. So you're becoming aware of your energies, the energies you hold and the energy of your body, the energy of your consciousness, all of it together. And you're becoming aware of, okay, right. So I really don't want that experience again.
So I'm going to release those energetics so I no longer broadcast and therefore request that experience. And I'm going to change that and have my high self fill that space with my true energy. So now I'm broadcasting that in that space instead. And as you keep working through those reactions and allow the energies to come up, you are step-by-step working towards the integration with the infusion with your higher self or your soul self.
And that is the one of the processes we're going to. I know there's very many different ways that people do it. This is just the way that I've learned to do it. But I would always encourage people make it your own. Play with it, but never ever be afraid of the reaction sensations like one of the big things in the spiritual community is, oh, I mustn't feel anger. That's bad. No, that's, that's not spiritual. But it's an energy you have inside you. It's simply something that needs to come up and be released. It's just an energy. It's about really being. And what this is is one of the things that the teams were very, very prominent with me on being crystal clear with yourself is one of the massive steps that humanity has to take and can take. You are absolutely honest with yourself about who you are, what you feel, how you feel, what you're thinking, without pushing anything to the side and then can make a conscious choice. Okay, so this is happening. Yes, I don't feel I don't like the feeling of that, but I can change this.

So where is it coming from? I can release that. I can infuse that space that's left behind with my high self. I can then move closer to my high self because now you become, you're becoming a responseable energetic being a responsible energetic being because you're now able to respond intelligently rather than react.
And that's a big trouble with humanity. People are always reacting rather than responding. It's a very, very different environment. I know that sounds a bit preachy. I'm not trying to be preachy here, but just share some of the insights that I've gained because I've hit my head so many times on the wall of going through these and eventually got it and had the experience and realized the beautiful gentle graceful way the beings would come and say, 'Ah, great. You see it now.'
Now go forward with that and learn to go higher and deeper with that art form that you just learned, because it will really accelerate you beyond all the troubles and tribulations and trials that we go through that keep repeating and wondering why this keeps happening to be well. It's because there's just things within you that you're requesting experience, that you're not yet aware of, but if you allow that experience to trigger up within you, the energies that are requesting it, and you can clear them and be free of that cycle. So that's the way I see it.

Moving Beyond Duality & Returning to Source

Emilio: And after that long process that you went through, getting to where you are today, every time you wake up in the morning, what do you request from Source Intelligence, the universe, God, whatever word we want to use for that, about how you want to see reality that day?
Davy: That's an interesting thing. What I would say is that in the beginning, I used to make a lot of intentions about what I'd like to do and everything, but what are the things they were saying to me as well, and also a meditation, I used to meditate a lot as well. And they're saying, instead of sitting down and closing your eyes and meditating, can you hold that energy in the waking space?

Can you practice holding that energy, not just when you're meditating, or you're in a nice space and everything is great? Can you now go out in the world, and can you hold that state? Can you hold that energy? When you go to sleep, can you hold that energy? When you wake up, can you have that energy there? And the more you practice that, you acclimate your body, your mind, everything to fully being in that, no matter what.
And from there, when you have that access, then you can lens using that intelligence, energies, however you wish to lens them. Because that essentially is what we are, we lens Source Intelligence into creative forms, into manifest forms, which includes realities and other things like that.
And it's all remembering and re-acclimating ourselves to our Source Intelligence so that we can remember, we're not just structural beings wandering around and the wind getting bumped off this and just trying to get through the day with minimal knocks and bounces. We are literally profound energy lenses and creators.
And when we remember that state of being, there is nothing about our reality we cannot change, create and do with, as we would love to do it.
But there's also an underlying sort of presence there, the continual emission of that Source energetic. But even without you making any intent, if you have a sufficient level, it literally goes out and emanates and rearranges everything to bring you the greatest joy, because it intelligently knows what it is that you truly love. It intelligently knows what it is that is going to bring you the most joy and it organizes things on your behalf. You can make alterations and changes and make intentions to re-lens or change things if you wish.
But there is this sort of foundation emission that is there that will make sure your environment really starts to mirror the true love, the true joy, the true beauty of who it is that you really are in your core and what it is that you want. And you can do all sorts of cool things with that and on top of that as well. So I don't know if that answers your question.

Moving Beyond Duality & Returning to Source

Emilio: Definitely. And in the beginning of our conversation, you're mentioning how yes, as a species, we're heading more into a heart-centric perception. But it doesn't mean to leave behind our mind and the intellect. And I'm curious to know with your interactions with these beings, the Arcturians, all these other galactic races that are more heart-centric and they have developed in that way as a species. How do they use their mind and how could we start learning from them to go to the heart, but not leave this behind, use it in the way that it was meant to be used in that way?

Davy: Yes. Yes. Another good question. What I would say is that what it has been very clear to me is that through the assistance and work I do with Source Intelligence in my high self is that the mind. Let's go back a little and perhaps put it into a little bit more context that with this experiment of humanity, but going through this, what would it be like to be disconnected or separate from Source Intelligence.

Now, as humanity goes forward, it starts to get more survivalistic. It goes into the mind, more mind-centered, and everything becomes like a sort of get or take kind of scenario. But what happens when you reintroduce the Source Intelligence opening here, and it starts bridging up to the core of the mind to the pineal, and that Source Intelligence emanates and starts to blend into and starts to infuse into the neurological system, the brain as a whole. Suddenly, the mind starts behaving not as a destructive instrument or a selfish instrument or an instrument of survival. It becomes an immaculate device of image generation, imagination, image generation.

So that, I believe, is what happens. And so this is what's happening. We're really learning in my view and my experience to come from here. But all bridges move out to your mind, to every cell, every part of your body. So your entire body, your mind, your nervous system becomes an immaculate extension of an instrument of the heart-centered intelligence itself. So it doesn't leave anything behind. Nothing is like, okay, we're done with that. We're not doing that anymore. No, it's reimagining the human form as a Source Intelligence system that is there as a vessel for consciousness, Source consciousness to come in and have a beautiful physical experience, but when you have that bridge open and everything is really infused with Source Intelligence, your whole world is going to be different. Everything inside is going to be different. That is where I believe the humanity is heading to. I hope that answers your question now.

How to Discern the Energy of Beings

Emilio: Yes, and you brought up this word, the experiment that we're in. And essentially, yes, we are an experiment to see how far we could leave Source consciousness and play around in these dense physical realms. What happens when a society or a race like humanity says, we're done learning from duality?. Where are we headed next in that sense?

Davy: Well, I believe that duality is really created from opposites from the zero or the point of no duality. You can expand fields of different polarity. So you have one polarity and it's opposite polarity, but when you bring them together, they collapse back to the zero. And so one of the things that as you become more heart-centered and you bridge to the mind, suddenly a lot of the dualistic qualities that the mind has oriented or become orientated to being a electrochemical system because the current state of electrical energy we have down here has a high degree of polarity to it. But when you infuse it, we're living Source Intelligence consciousness because imagine in the Dark Ages where there was so little Source Intelligence, it was almost pure polarity.

So everything then plays out in the polarity mechanistic ways. It plays out in the game and the rules of the game, according to the way polarities work. But now as a game changer, now when you introduce Source Intelligence and fuse that back into all aspects of you that were orientated to polarity, something changes.

Now, instead of behaving in by the rules of polarity, they now behave according to the intelligence of the Source Love light that is within you. Very different.
So that's the way I see humanity heading towards. It's a move away from this entrenched massive polarity experience. Those polarities will start moving together and you'll move towards the center. And now suddenly you're moving towards a non-polaristic Source Intelligence experience where reality creation is not just polarities. It's everything that polarity cannot touch. It's just so hard to describe it because the language I use is structural. I felt it. I've had an experience of what it is like to be in those kind of energetics.
And the way I would describe it, it is such a profound beauty. But the word beauty doesn't do it justice. It is such a blissful experience, but the word bliss doesn't do it justice either. It really is something that you simply have to experience yourself. Imagine just being the most excited child by, I don't know, a thousand, ten thousand times.
And then all of life just becomes a delight beyond anything that you could ever imagine. And think, ‘Oh, yes, that time I had in my life was so beautiful.’ That doesn't even compare to what's coming our way.
And when I meet these beings on their ships, the level of delight and beauty and peace and bliss that they have is such a beautiful thing to be around.
And that is where I believe humanity is headed and the intelligence within them. And that's, this is another issue as well that a lot of people talk about ‘Oh when you connect the different beings, how do you know who you're talking to?’
Well, again, like we discussed before we went live or you started recording is that you know them by their energy. See, Source Intelligence reaches out to another being to help uplift them in Source Intelligence as well. That's its benevolence, but it doesn't overstep. It won't overstep your free will.
So if you choose not to engage, it won't engage. It doesn't force itself on you. It will wait patiently and patiently until you do, but it will wait.
And so that is the difference when you get near these beings that have really opened up that center and they live as Source Intelligence emanations within the vessel that they occupy.

Within the vessel, they're occupying that sweet intelligence within them is always like looking to uplift you to help you to say, Oh, if you move this or clear this out of your system, you'll be able to get to greater depth of joy. Did you realize this? It's always looking to do that. Whereas another being that might have an agenda, their energy wouldn't admit that you would feel the sensation of that agenda that's there.
And when I've met these beings, one of the first things they do is they give me space and time and say, Can you feel our energy? Can you feel who we are? Can you feel what it is we'd like to do here? And can you sense that within yourself, that truth, because you can't deceive somebody with energy. Your energy is what your energy is. You emit energy and you can't stop it from emitting. It's just emitting from you. It's like saying, how could you say the Sun is always emitting from you? The Sun is always emitting its light. You stand outside or you stand inside. It's still emitting its light. Do you choose to go out and sense it?
And it's the same with these beings. When you feel their energy, their core energy where they're coming from and you feel, Are they Source orientated or are they more agenda orientated or perhaps mind orientated or a whole different mixed bag of things that they can be?
And it's the same with human beings as well. We discussed before when somebody's talking, when they're really talking from their heart center, you feel the energy emanation. You feel the living intelligence that emanates with the words they're saying. It doesn't even need to be a structural language. That's just a mechanistic language we have. But the real intent, the real language that's communicating is coming out through and that's what you feel.
And that's really where you can feel who people are, where they're coming from, what it is they want. You can sense by their energies. I've had so many stories of people and myself including having experiences of people that were so good at talking, so good at articulating. But you get near their energy and you feel, I know, sorry, your energy is saying something else.

Emilio: It's pure poetry, but there's nothing there.
Davy: Exactly. And this is why I always say to people learn to really encourage that sensitivity to energy. Allow yourself to be vulnerable to being sensitive to feel energy because then you'll really get to feel what people are like on the inside what they're really broadcasting what they're really doing. And you can really navigate so much better through life in that and make better choices. But yes, to me, that true intelligent core energy is what it is all about. It really is that simple.

What Determines the Speed of Consciousness Expansion

Emilio: And I know your teams have said that this conscious development can go as fast or as slow as we wish or not at all for that sense. Yes. What determines, I guess, the, I don't want to use the word speed, but for a lack of better word going toward this new perception. What determines if it's a slower process or a faster process for certain people.
*1.12
Davy: Yes, another good question. It's a few things, I think. One of them in my experience has been, are you currently processing something and do you need to take your foot off the gas and just relax and integrate for a little bit?
Don't overdo it, because I've overdone it many times. And crashed and burned kind of thing with some of the energies and the teams are very playful. I enjoy for you. See, well, we kind of try to tell you, but you really did want to push forward on that one.
So there is that. There's also a person's path, a unique soul path because before we incarnate, we'll decide, okay, so as part of this puzzle piece solving that we're down here on the Earth to do. I'm pretty good at solving those kinds of energetics down there. So I'm going to go in, I'm going to incarnate into a body or a family field or something like that that is pretty rich in those energies. I'm going to go in there. It's going to be rough, but I'm going to work through them in my own way at my own pace and bit by bit, I'm going to solve the energetics stuckness within that family field within that physical body field or whole bunch of different field systems that there are.

And by solving that, I will then introduce the solutions into the Earth grid so other people can have that available. Now, so depending on what path that people take, what sort of route they go through to do that, they may take a real tangent down into something very deep and heavy that, on me, takes them years to get through because of the density of it and how much time it takes to break that stuck energy system down to resolve it, find the solution and then move on. And so it's kind of horses for courses in that way because somebody might be going through something very quick. Oh, yes, half an hour. I saw that, got that little puzzle piece, dissolved it away. It's gone. I'm good to go again. So you can sort of really shoot forward and then you can sort of go into something heavy and take a little bit slower.
And then on top of that, the third aspect, and there may be more that I haven't considered, is your free will choice. You may decide, yes, I know I've got that to do with them right now. I just want to chill. I just want to go on holiday, enjoy some lifetime, enjoy some family time or friend time or I'll go surf, go fly a kite, whatever it is that you want to do.
So that is all taken into consideration by the living intelligence within you. It's not, we're not being sort of towed by a line or saying, right, you must do this now kind of thing. It's not like that. It's a very gentle honoring process.
And so there are those factors that are involved. And so in my past experience when I've got like a little bit short of you for the myself and really wanted to go, go, go I overwhelm myself and realize I'm doing it. I really need to learn better ways of understanding.
Okay, what am I okay to do with right now? Do I need a rest night now? Do I need to take some space that needs to take a week a month? Whatever it is it's all learning to understand yourself energetically where you are, what you're good to handle.
And if it's too much, you can ask yourself, look this puzzle piece is too much right now, just take it back up for the time being, I'm going to take a respite and you can bring it back once I'm ready. And that's happened before, you can do that.

So there's all these little tricks kind of thing or little things that you can use that are really handy, for because I didn't know those at the time. I had to kind of learn those going the hard way. So if that helps anybody by knowing those little snippets of information, and that's one of them.

Is Reality a Simulation?

Emilio: There is a lot of, I guess, new physicists nowadays that have come to conclusions about this reality, equivocating it to a computer simulation game. Where are you with that perception?
Davy: That's a deep question. Now, there's no doubt in my mind that a lot of the perceptibility of humanity has been tinkered with over many, many lifetimes for a long period of time. And so humanity has been encouraged into a mindset of seeing everything as if it's a functional system, a little bit like a computer game in a way. Now, what I would say is, as a little bit of a sort of heartful message is to say, never allow yourself to get fooled into thinking that you are trapped in some kind of a simulation, whether it's generated by others, or you are generating yourself, because you as a Source Intelligence being can change your reality to whatever you wish to be, but you have free will.
So you can also choose to fool yourself. That is part of the free will condition. You can convince yourself you are a victim. You can convince yourself you're stuck. You can convince yourself that somebody else is doing this to you and you can't get out of it.
1.17
None of that is true. It's all a question of how you see as energy lenses and having the ability to lens energy into different ways. Part of the conditioning of humanity has turned in upon itself by convincing itself so deeply in some cases that they are a victim to what goes on outside, that they replay that so again and again and they reinforce it again and again.

And they wonder why life is difficult. I've been through some of those myself so I'm not saying I really do understand it can be quite tricky, but at the core of it, it really is and the teams have told me this many times you are you are you are in the prison of no one but yourself. That is the truth of it and learning to understand how you are generating that prison for yourself and undoing it is the key.
And how you are doing it is we're doing it by repeating these old traumas. There's an old there's a film I watched recently saying some people carry their prisons around with them. That's so true. But metaphorically speaking that prison could be repeating an old cycle of trauma. It could be repeating getting yourself into trouble with person A or person B. It's a confinement system that keeps you again and again going through the same old, same old. It's a prison. And so the way to resolve that is again learn what it is you are emitting to keep requesting that.
Learn to go inside and meditation can be very helpful for this where you can go inside and ask yourself. Can you bring up and show me the energies that I have that I'm requesting to keep going through this loop, going through this cycle, going through this what appears to be a simulation or whatever it is, so that I can finally be free of it and replace it with a true creative energetic so I can create the life and the experience that I truly wish to create and I'm not just looping through these old subconscious or unconscious patterns anymore. And so that's a big thing and I find a lot of people sometimes people have quite strong reactions to hearing that because they really want to reinforce. No, they are definitely doing this. Well, there are people out there doing the various things that's for sure.
But again, as the advanced beings have said, they cannot override your true energetics they cannot force you to do anything you don't want to do. They might try and put do all sorts of things to make you feel like you are forced to do it but in truth, they have no access to what's in your core, only you do. And only you can choose to connect with that, emanate it and work with that. And there's nothing that anybody else can do about that if you choose to do that. That's the key.

So really, I would say that there are qualities that that many people are going through that are simulation like, but fundamentally all energetics stem from Source Intelligence. As those energetics compress they turn on.
And an analogy I like to use if you imagine an ocean, you're in an ocean with water all around you. Suddenly the intelligent form of the water says, Oh, what if I make little balls of ice, I can press and lock into form this fluid, energetic, and I make structure out of what it if I bring these components together and form a molecule and now a cell and so on and so forth.
And with those, I can now make computers or technologies and other things as well. Ultimately, all those energetics are underlined by Source Intelligence and they're held in play for playing these experiential games, these experiential wonders, sometimes like we've had experience. It's not always so nice.
But the truth is when you understand that Source Intelligence underlies it all and you have access to that and you can therefore change anything, no exceptions in your reality.
You can reform those structures. You can, and there's been so many examples of people that were able to change, manifest, do things, like the masters of old.
They can manifest things in the hand. They literally had one to one influence over the energetic structures of materials, atoms, you name it, because they had access to what was in here.[touches his heart]
You see, you can only make changes to things if you have sufficient access to the fundamentals of what actually makes the changes. And so if you have access to the intelligence of the ocean, you now have access to change the ice cubes, the structures they make and how they arrange themselves and orientate themselves. And if you map that to reality, you therefore have the ability to change everything about your surrounding that you wish. And this is how these beings operate.
1.22m*
This is why the very advanced ones have crafts that are fluid. They can simply consciously choose to have that craft take on any shape.

It will form to any shape they wish because they have access to the Source Intelligence within that does that.
That's the key. That's the key thing. And so for me, some beings choose to go that the pure technology route and don't want to access Source Intelligence.
So they manipulate things technologically. There's a limit on that. You can only go so far and you reach a block wall. You can't go. You can't go above that. Because there's so much stuff you can do a structure in that way until you've reached max capacity.
But to go beyond that, you have to go into Source energetics. You have to learn to be a pure creator being. You have to learn to then get access to the very fundamentals of fundamentals of all of that so you can change it. You can go far beyond the limitations of technological simulations, whatever you want to call it, or realities, or even just technologies in general.
So I mean, that this is so much that that's like a whole series of conversations by itself. But I hope that just by saying that it gives people a bit of a glimpse that the going into your heart center is not just some nice airy fairy way you say you want to be more kind or more caring.
It really is a fundamental existential center that gives you access to everything. The deeper you go, the more connected you are, the more access you get to the fundamentals, the more you can do. That's as it was explained to me.
And these advanced races, they have that. They can be at any point around wherever they want to be. They simply lens that energy and they're there. That's the access to the fundamentals of reality they have. And so I believe that is where humanity is heading. And it's not about developing more advanced technology.
It's the simplicity of going back inside here and practicing, re-bridging, reconnecting, and re-becoming Source Intelligence in human form again. Then you'll be able to develop things that are far beyond technological innovations like you will not believe.
Emilio: Wow. Wow. Wow. I'm curious as we come up to the end of the conversation, we've been mentioning the Arcturians a lot. I'm wondering if there's anything that they would like to leave this audience with as a transmission for maybe integration of all that we've talked about because we've talked about a lot today. You've covered a lot.

A Transmission from the Arcturians

Davy: Yes. Now I can feel them here. And so one of the ways that I communicate is that through my high self, I've been working to connect with my high self literally every day since probably 2000. Let me see. Maybe 24, I guess now. So it's been over 20 years now. And when you have access to that core intelligence, again, communication becomes very clear and very perceptible.
And one of the things they're saying is that to remind people of that when you go to sleep at night, one of the things that you can ask your high self is to put that literally, I call it a cocoon, but it's like an energy field that gets placed around you that begins to accelerate the bridging.
It begins to accelerate the infusion with your higher self living love light intelligence. And you can be playful with that.
They're saying, you don't be rigid about it. Don't think, Oh, there's a structure.
This. I had no, no, no, no. This is one of the things that I had to learn and almost unlearn in the rigidity that I did have, that is to be playful. The more playful that you can be, the more open and accessible this is. That's a very key thing that play for this joyfulness, the Source Intelligence, one to one. It's the same thing. Seriousness is not part of this at all. The more serious you are, the more you're actually contracting and you're limiting the amount of energy that comes through. It's a good idea. I can remember laughing about myself in the beginning when I was meditating, sitting there like crazy, not exactly what's going on.
And the more this is when you really connect with that Source energy.
When you do it, you become more playful? And that Source energy itself is playful. It will teach you in playful ways and it will act with you in playful ways. My high self, my wife says your high self is such a joker. It's always making jokes about this or anything else. And that is the nature of high dimensional energetic. It is expansive. It's playful. It's fun.

So that's key one, I would say to people is what they're reminding me to say to everyone, keep it playful. Do not get serious. Serious is seriously outdated. And one of the things when you use that cocoon, really relax into it as if you're taking a bath in the most beautiful warm water in the ocean. You can imagine or even invite in guides that you have that you work with and ask them to come closer to you and really ask them as well.
They're saying to use that time in the cocoon to invite them to lift out, break down old energetics that are limiting you from keeping forward and opening up on deeply and to help replace that with your high self presence and the higher self infusion. Because that's you. That's the real core you. You're asking them to really help you become more of the real you by displacing, dissolving and moving out identities, traumas, fears, all the yucky stuff, all the low energetics that people cling to without knowing about it.
And let that take place overnight time and see how you feel when you get up. And they're saying sometimes when something is displaced, it will bring something up beneath it that that was keeping in place. And so that continues by asking again, sit down in the cocoon, ask for the same thing again, ask for them to help you clear, break it down. And they're saying that that's a very critical thing to break down because these energetics structures can be quite solidified and quite stuck and stagnant.
And they need a bit of dissolving down sometimes so they can loosen up and then just be displaced and cleared out.
So that's another big thing to remember as well. And again, with all this, just keep it playful. If an idea occurs to you like your high self gives you an idea, why don't you try that? Why don't you add that into the mix. You haven't asked for that yet. Be playful with it and see because it's your evolution. It's your path. And it's very personal to you. And so the direction your high self may wish to take you in is very different from somebody sitting next to you and that's perfect. That is a beautiful thing.

And they're saying that the beauty and the perfection of heart-centeredness is something that is really going to become apparent to the human race. When the human race learns to connect with the heart center, you will have access to living libraries is the word they're using of the entire cosmos. I know they've spoken about this before and other information they brought through.
So this is a very good reminder. And somebody might ask, well, what does that mean? Well, for example, in ancient civilizations, they realized that they had libraries that were energetic libraries where you could only access that information if you reached a certain level to make sure that you are the right person accessing that information.
Now, the universe is constructed in ways that the more deeper or heart-centered you become, you become more benevolent, compassionate, kind, consider all of the good things. You then reach a high level and therefore can now access greater information, greater expanses of information.
Ideas will come to you that you would never have been able to generate if you were still at the previous state that you're in before. That is going to really open up. You're going to get stuck to get these beautiful and profound inspirations that seem to come out of whoa, where did that come from? Well, the more you open up that heart center, that is going to happen more and more and more.
And it's going to feel sweeter and sweeter the more you do it. And you're going to look back and think, oh, my goodness, how could I exist? How did I exist in this state before without that access? Because it's difficult to explain, but life takes on a very benevolent sweetness that I never felt before in my intellectual days of trying to search for the solutions in intellectual ways.
But all the ideas that I was searching for now that I have a greater degree of heart connection. The simplicity of what I was trying to get out then is so perceptible now, realizing, oh, my goodness. Going after this intellectually was always knocking on a door that would never open because you can't get access to what's behind the door in an intellectual way. You have to access it energetically. You have to be in a connected state of willing, a Source connection to open that door to allow the information, the living experience of that living library of the cosmos, that plants itself, which is a living library in and of itself, the solar system, this galaxy. It's all levels of the more connected you are, the more access you have because you can synergize now.

You have to synergize with the level of energetics you wish to access. It really is in a one way of saying it, very that simple. So, yes, so is there anything else that you'd like to share from my high self or my team's here?
No, that's the message they wanted to share. One thing they are saying, I'm not sure if that's the message they're sharing, is there is such a deep, as best I can describe it. It's such a beautiful, sublime, smiling, energetic. They look upon humanity in such a profound way. Everybody thinks, oh, wow, cool, the Arcturians, the Pleiadians, they're so awesome.
And in their conversations, they would look upon humanity saying the potential, the unimaginable potential you have as humanity is off the charts. They don't say that lightly. And I don't say it lightly either because when you realize, when you infuse and awaken your body, the human system, to living a Source Intelligence, what's waiting there to be discovered is going to be off the charts. And that in itself is just phenomenal. I mean, it's so exciting to me. It really is.
Emilio: Dr. David, we end every show with a segment called The Final Trio. There's some questions that we ask at the very end. Before that, I would love to give you the space to tell our audience where they can connect with you, if they're new to your work. Anything that you have going on right now, whatever you want to mention here.
Davy: So we have two websites, one of which is on Patreon, which is Infinite Source Creations. So what we did is we have most of the meditations on there for free, but the ones that are personal activations, we asked for a small subscription, monthly subscription to help the platform. But specifically, two free ones I want to mention for people is numbers 14 and 15. Those are initial activations to open what's called the Infinite Source Gateway, which is a direct portal within the Sacred Heart, the Soul Heart that is enmeshed within your physical heart.

When you open that and do the second one, which is the infusion of the Infinite Source Intelligence, just repeating those in themselves, people have been reporting profound experiences of just really infusing with love intelligence and deeper joy, deeper peace like they've never had before.
So if you want to go and do those and just do those two and practice those, those are really fantastic ones. But if you want to continue as well, the Source Intelligence and the team is bringing through these very profound activations to help continue stepping up the bridging between the Sacred Source Heart Center, the cellular structure, the mind, bridging and raising up everything and beginning is very powerful accelerated acclimation.
So if you feel drawn to that, go check it out if you want to. The other website we have are Innovations we developed with the teams. So they're sort of a small stepping stone towards the technology that they have. So these are devices which are harmonized by taking degenerative coded structures in fields, whether it's your home, within the things you eat, all sorts of things and transforming them into generative structured coding.

So those devices you can find on a link I'm sure you're going to put that in the comments or the info.
So you can find that stuff through there. There is a big waiting list, unfortunately at the moment, we've been absolutely snowballed by people wanting these and there's a big waiting list, but we're hoping to solve that issue of how fast we build them because they're very difficult to make. And it's taken me a long time to do it, but we're working on a solution to get that done faster because there's a lot of people waiting to get those. So when you get there, you're going to see that they're out of stock, but you can add your name to the waiting list if you want to.
Emilio: Beautiful. Now we'll include everything in the show. And for the final trio, the first two questions are personalized to every single guest. The last one we asked at the Innovations show. So the first one I had for you today is if you had to encode your entire body of work into a single principle for the future generations, what would it be?

Davy: I would say that in one phrase, it would be the energetic of love intelligence. That's the foundation. That's the core. That's everything I do is based from that.

Emilio: And when future scientists look back, what new discovery that we will make will be the point that tipped humanity's entire paradigm for our future.

Davy: That's an interesting one. I would say it's a collective effort. I would say that the choice for everyone to open their hearts and connect within the Source Intelligence is collectively moving us towards that. And it is from there that the greatest ideas, the greatest innovations are coming from.

So I would say it's not one individual per se, although there have been individuals like Nikola Tesla and other people that have really accelerated things. I would say that really it is the collective choice of opening the heart and letting yourself reconnect, rebridge, reblend with Source Intelligence. That is the greatest thing that anyone can do. And that is what is leading to these great innovations as well.

Future Discoveries & Time Capsule Message

Emilio: Beautiful. This last question we asked is called the time capsule question. Okay. And it requires us to travel a little bit out into the future around 15 to 20 years on the line. Okay. The reason I chose out that timeframe is because I believe that's going to be a time in history where the young generations of today are going to be stepping more into leadership positions around the world.

And just like any great leader that's come before us, they've had a great access to mentors, resources, knowledge, tools. Yes, really all the tools that they need to be the best leaders that they can be. And you have the opportunity to leave behind a time capsule for them. And inside of this time capsule, you could choose whatever you want. It doesn't have to be something physical. It could be a frequency and energetic, something that you feel that when they open this, they will be ready to step into the highest potential for leadership for the Golden Age. What the ancients called the Golden Age, the future of humanity. What would you leave behind? Essentially. This is a question about legacy. Where would you leave behind for the future generations?

Davy: That's interesting, the way I would phrase that is, I think it would be a short note. And it would say no matter what you do, if you are moving into a leadership role, if you're moving into an innovations role. Whatever role that is that you are taking. The most important thing that you can do as with the two other questions is. Allow that role to come from your core from your heart center.

And the reason why I say that is because specifically mentioned leadership. I believe that leadership is going to transform into something else. Rather than lead in an old way, old energy way that has been done. It is a lead by example, in a way. It's a lead by actually being in the state that you're saying like masters of the past that came here, they didn't lead by pulling or shoving or pushing or telling people what to do.

They led by saying this is what you can have. You have it inside you. Do you wish to do this? And the choice is yours. That to me is what true leadership is about is about really showing people. What you can attain when you open access here because really when people do that. They have an unending unlimited access to anything they wish to be to create to say whatever it is.

So I would say to anybody who's doing that saying whatever it is that you do. Just the best advice I can give you as a time capsule. If you open that up is make sure that you're connected within your heart center. Make sure everything you do comes from that place because it will be infused with the intelligence of Source.

So that whatever you do is going to essentially be generated in the best possible way for you and everybody else and the planet as well. Whatever you do. It's always guided in that the energy always works in that way. So there's no other. There's no other place to do that sort of thing from than from here. So I would say that will be my message in a time capsule.

Emilio: And thank you for being that example for people. Honestly, I just wanted to take a moment to acknowledge how beautifully you've merged both heart and intellect to be able to bring through such powerful messages for humanity. And it is such a pleasure. My heart received you in the most fluid away possible.
And I can't wait to continue our conversations, brother. This has been such a joy. You've expanded me in ways that I didn't think we were going to go. And I think also we just scratched the surface. So thank you for your depth, brother.
Davy: You're very welcome. And I thank you again for inviting me on. I treat these interviews as very sacred ways to offer information. And I say to people that it's like a banquet. You can take what you wish, what you find delightful and leave the rest. It's your path. It's your choice. My aim is really to simply explain my experience, my contact, my communications, my own growth and development and hope that those offerings and sharing.
So I think that those offerings and sharing are going to help uplift you and help you expand beyond the things that are preventing you from being the true being that you are. It's really that simple. So thank you so much for inviting me on. And I'm really delighted to have met you. And I hope we have more conversations like this because there's so much to cover.
Emilio: Okay. Thank you.
Davy: That was very cool. Thank you, Emilio. I deeply appreciate this. Lots of love to you and lots of love to all of your audience listening out there. Have a beautiful day and I hope you've got whatever you needed to get out of this information for yourself.
Emilio: Lots of love. Thank you.

Meditations are on Dr David Clement's Patreon channel, https://www.patreon.com/c/infinitesourcecreations/ That is where all the streams of infinite Source Intelligence, global meditations and channels of other beings, come through. For the other sites, https://www.isee-infynergy.com/ is the ISEE site for protective innovations and https://infinitesourcecreations.com/ has the Quantum Still-point Clarifier device and the Quantum Earth Seeds innovations also Dr. Clements has kindly offered all viewers of this video a 5% discount on his products, just use the code GIFT255.